Veterinary Physiotherapy

Biosecurity Policy

The biosecurity policy outlined below is upheld and practiced by Tiggy Harris Veterinary Physiotherapy.

All care will be taken to manage or reduce the risk of disease amongst humans and animals.

- * In the event of any animal booked for treatment being diagnosed with an infectious disease, the appointment will be postponed until there is no longer a risk of spreading the infection.
- * If an animal exhibits signs of disease on my arrival at the premises or during a treatment, the treatment will cease and the owner strongly advised to seek veterinary intervention. In this instance, I will change my clothes and sanitise any equipment which may be contaminated before travelling to see another animal.
- * All equipment will be sanitised between use on different animals.
